

CARUDA PURANAM,

Kutannat, Mahish&ksha and Pilankash are the names of Kutannat. Kashmari and Shriparni are the names of Kat-phald (Myrica Sapida). Patri, Sarabhi, Shravd and GajabhakshyA are the names of Shallaki (Bos Wellia Serrata), Dh&tri is the name of Amalakam (Emblie Myrobalans) Aksha is the name of Vibhftaka (Terminalia Belirica). PathyS, AbhayS. and Putani are the names of Haritaki (Indian Myrobalans).

The group of drugs, known as Triphala or Phalatrikam, consists of Haritaki, Bibhitaka and Amlakatn (with their «to*€f removed. Udakiri, and Dirgha-Vrinta, are the names of Karanja (Karanji of the R&ja-Nighantam); and Yashti, Yashtkhvayam, *nd Madhu-Yashti are synonymous with Afadhukam {Liquorice-root, Glycyrrhiza glabra), Tamraparni, S*mang4 and Kunjarl are the names of Dhitaki (Woodfordia Floribondia), Sitam, Malayajam, Sheetam and Goshirsham, are the terms which signify white sandal wood (Santalam-albam), while the red species is called Rakta Chandanam, Viri, Vayasyi, and Arkapushpika are the names of Kakoli, while Shringi is known by the names KarkaUL-Shringi and Mah&ghosA. (Rhus Succedanea). Tugikshiri, Shubhci and Vanshi are the names of VanshalochanS. (Manna of the Bamboo\ and Grapes are called by thfe epithets of Drakshd, Gostanika and Mridvika (Vitis ViniferaK Ldmajjka are called by the names of Ushirim and Mrinilam (Juijfus Odoratus), and Siram, Gopii and Gopavalli are 'the names of BhadrA (Hemidesmus Indicus). Danti and Katankeri are the names of D4ru-Haridr& (Cascinium Fenestratum\ and Rajani, i\itak4, and terms signifying " Night,<sup>1</sup> are the synonymes of Haridr4 (turmeric). Vira-Vriksha is known yb

 the epithets of Virataru and Varataru, while Rasf, Amritf, Nilavalli and Chchhinna-ruh^ are the epithets of Vrikshadani
 (Tinaspora Cordifolise). Kapota is another name of Sury^-
 fchakti (Cleome Viscosa, Polanisia Icosuhdra), while Katapatn is uilod Kaathabhalli or Kantha-Shdld, and Kampika, Vashira